

LIFE

GIRLS' NEW FADS

JUNE 26, 1939 10 CENTS

Tuna fishermen haul from stern of their motor launch

Man Mike Murphy at the night tuna boat for tuna from motor launch of former Cuban fishermen

Life goes at Cat Cay in the Bahamas, where

CAT CAT BOSS

According to the fishermen who fish for them, tuna are one of the world's greatest game fish. The best place in the world to catch tuna is that portion of the Gulf Stream which reaches the sunny shores of Cat Cay, small sea-bird island in the Bahamas, seven years ago a New York advertising man named Louis W. Huey bought Cat Cay and, with his partner G. W. Winston, rebuilt Cat Cay House, where his friends can board for $10 up a day.

Last month, Cat Cay was the scene of a unique tuna-fishing tournament between individuals and teams representing Cuba and the U. S. The tournament was unique because its main rule forbade the fish inspectors to fish to compensate for being caught.

SLIPPING TUNA THE LARGE BEAK, AUTOMATICALLY DRINK

Party at Cat Cay with the in house bar and night club

Tuna Fishing

a tournament catch sets a record

At Cat Cay this year a kind of record-breaking sport appeared among the fish. In three days the two teams caught a total of 68,000 lbs. which was carried to Miami for U.S. Coast Guard Officer Hagan and distributed to the city's poor.

There are three kinds of tuna: albacore, which are common, weigh up to 100 lbs.; yellowfin, which are plentiful off California and Mexican coasts, weigh up to 400 lbs.; and bluefin, which abound at Cat Cay, weigh up to 1,000 lbs. Beyond their habits at the end of a billion miles to know about bluefin tuna. But on May 15, nearly to the day, they appear off Cat Cay. Entries in Mr. Wray's Cat Cay Tournament included Tommy Sherbo, Eddie Sealark, Fred Berthing III, Bradley and Townsend Martin, Henry Sears, Thomas Hunsdley, George Leasing and some 30 more of the world's best known game fishermen. When not fishing guests passed their time shooting, drinking, swimming or dining at Cat Cay.

TOP: BEYOND BY JUMPING, TUNA GIVE BIRTH RECORD.

Two Tuna, Yellowfin and Common, they prize for tuna weighing 400 and 500 lbs.

At Cat Cay prize taken John Sawyer prize for biggest tuna caught here.

Shooting what provides relaxation from catching fish.

Swimming, bicycling and breakfast bring a leisurely day.

Life goes Tuna Fishing

Large tuna fish are sometimes prepared by picking heads.

Food is served at the table.

Tens of thousands hanging over the sea part of second day's catch of 40.

Man steps forward and waves according to code of his island.

Children playing before house.

Tuna fishing is an arduous

John Barrett, the world's first tuna fisherman, works hard to pump in a big fish. Fishermen usually pull together before starting fish to be used, like to show, from which the fish can Deep sea reels cost about $100 to $150. They pull the line from the rollers to rollers inside the boat. Forward gear is left. Back equipped with broken and gear with way over 1000. The reel

Well equipped deep sea fishing boat cost over $100,000. They go about 40 hours out from. Long price which look like investment can pay and expensive pastime to succeed. When the boat is out there, the trick is to keep back as far as possible pulling out up to six feet every forward stroke. The trick is the less time needed, used to work in that both about half a mile of time. That is worth the cost and should be used as a great effort. Close to the equipment given today. That took more than 100. The better the more the

At the end of the day, the boat is out there, the trick is to keep back as far as possible pulling out up to six feet every forward stroke. The trick is the less time needed, used to work in that

At the end of the day, the boat is out there, the trick is to keep back as far as possible pulling out up to six feet every forward stroke. The trick is the less time needed, used to work in that

At the end of the day, the boat is out there, the trick is to keep back as far as possible pulling out up to six feet every forward stroke. The trick is the less time needed, used to work in that

At the end of the day, the boat is out there, the trick is to keep back as far as possible pulling out up to six feet every forward stroke. The trick is the less time needed, used to work in that

At the end of the day, the boat is out there, the trick is to keep back as far as possible pulling out up to six feet every forward stroke. The trick is the less time needed, used to work in that

At the end of the day, the boat is out there, the trick is to keep back as far as possible pulling out up to six feet every forward stroke. The trick is the less time needed, used to work in that